

"Engineering superconducting and topological systems in and out of equilibrium"

Hideo Aoki

Dept. of Physics, Univ Tokyo, Japan

Topological and superconducting systems are theoretically discussed for engineering these properties in and out-of equilibrium. These include nematicity-induced superconductivity and Floquet topological superconductivity. Emphasis is put on importance of flat and/or incipient bands, and single vs multiple orbital/band cases.