Before we transition to the main agenda:

Successful R&D days past April 16 and 17, c.f. <https://indico.bnl.gov/event/27200/>

- Any no-cost extensions of FY22-24 contracts need your (institutional PI) timely action, c.f. slide 6 in Thomas Ullrich's and Rolf Ent's opening slide reproduced here:

FY22- FY24 Contracts

- Many contracts have been extended through so called no-cost extensions (NCE).
- While NCEs took little time in the past this is not true anymore. Assume ~2 months if this is related to an Inter-Entity Work Order (contracts between US national labs).
- Some contracts still have substantial $ amounts attached to them.
- It is your responsibility to recognize when NCE should be requested and this should be done early, especially for Nat. Labs.
- When a contract is expired no new invoices can be processed any more.
- Important: When we close out the BNL contracts you will be asked to return all the items purchased back to BNL. Mostly we do not want them and have no space
 - You can likely make better use of them for PED and later construction.
 - Suggest to transfer items to your DOE grant
 - Also easy to transfer between Nat. Labs

Please do not assume (auto-)magic – talk with your institutional contract officer.
