

Safety and health impact of magnetic fields

(M. Buzio)

Firstly, this talk illustrates with examples the hazards and pitfalls deriving from working in close proximity of strong magnetic fields, including the well-known “missile effect” along with different kinds of equipment malfunctions. In the second part, the interaction between magnetic field and biological tissues is discussed, with special attention to the medical implications.