

sPHENIX wiki and docdb

INTT wiki page

A screenshot of a web browser showing the sPHENIX wiki login page. The browser window has a title bar with the URL `wiki.bnl.gov`. The main content is a login form with the following fields:

- Username: `intt`
- Password: `sphenix-intt`
- Keep me logged in: An unchecked checkbox.
- Log in: A blue button.

Below the form are links for "Help with logging in" and "Forgot your password?". The left sidebar contains a navigation menu with sections for Main page, sPHENIX detector, Collaboration, and Tools. The "sPHENIX detector" section includes links for Magnet, EMCAL, HCAL, Tracking, TPC, MVTX, INTT, Electronics, Beam tests, and Software. The "Collaboration" section includes links for Meetings, Listservers, Speakers Bureau, and Document database. The "Tools" section includes links for Special pages and Printable version. The top right of the page has a "Log in" link and a search bar.

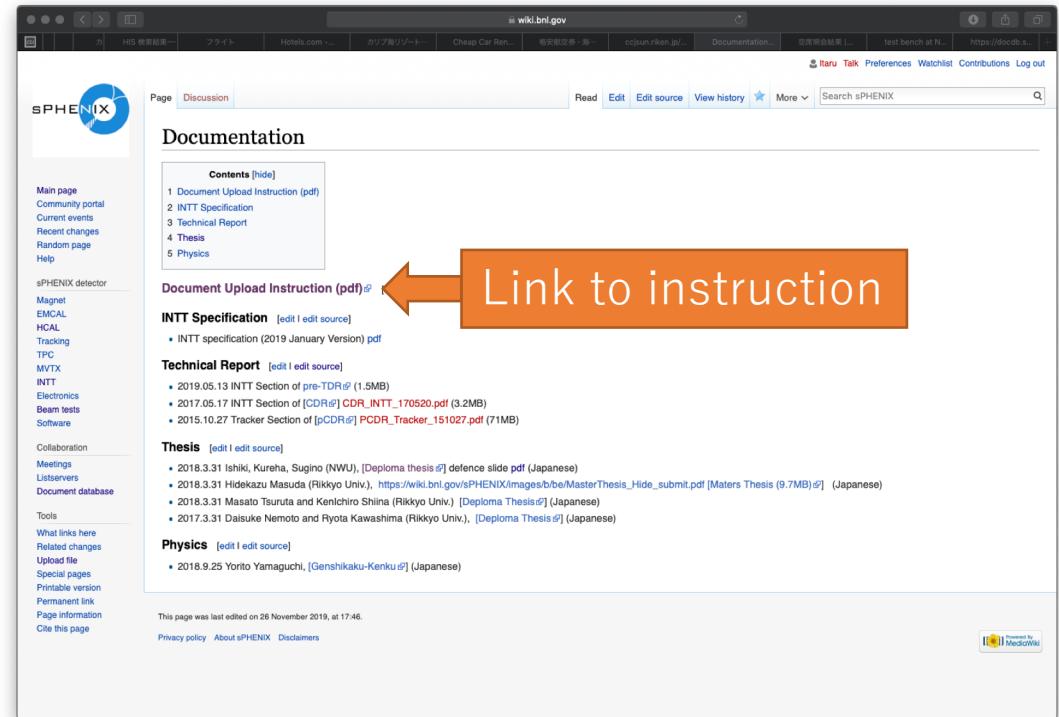

If you prefer to create your private account: please request to John Haggerty <haggerty@bnl.gov> with your username and e-mail address.

Document database

We have started a document database here:

with Tom Throwe's help. When you go to that site, you'll get a message about the server and the database. You can then log in to the database through the dialog. docdb has the concept of groups, and we have started with one group, 'sphenix'. You can add yourself as an author.
